Royal Society of British Artists

I am certain that the 1823 founders of the society and past distinguished presidents and members such as Whistler, Sickert, Lowry and Henry Moore would agree that the selection and hanging committees are to be congratulated on mounting a stunning 291st Annual Exhibition.

On behalf of the council and exhibitors I would like to thank all individuals, companies and educational establishments who sponsor the society and makes it possible to host the exhibition of students' work.

I am pleased to announce that NADFAS have generously decided to mark the recently agreed links with the society by offering to fund a sculpture prize.

I am sad to report that during the year we have lost Robert Ball, Stephen Crowther and Anthony Southwell. Anthony held the office of Vice President for five years, supervised and encouraged the display of sculpture and was a strong supporter of the education policy.
